

Soldiers of peace: Son picks up where father left off

THE GENERAL, who is moving the Armed Forces away from its long-held belief in a purely military solution to the insurgency problem, to the new Bayesian strategy that calls for "winning the peace rather than just defeating the enemy" leaves fully well the hope of making peace.

"That served as my inspiration," said Maj. Gen. Tomas Manuel Bautista, pointing to a special issue of a military magazine dated October 1977 that he keeps in his office at Camp Aguinaldo.

Independence Day

Cradle of noble heroes

Dr. Jose Rizal, our national hero, was shot dead in Bagumbayan Field on December 30, 1896, for his brave resistance to the 49th of the Spanish Galleon. He is the father of the Philippine Revolution.

The Balsero Death March, a week-long 15-mile march in April 1942, saw as high 10,000 Filipino and American prisoners of war die due to starvation, disease, and war.

THE MARTYR Former Sen. Benigno Aquino Jr., Senator Marcos' political arch-enemy, is a symbol in the annals of the Philippine Revolution. He was killed on August 21, 1983. His assassination gave birth to a wave of nationalist fervor culminating in the 4th EDSA People Power Revolution in February 1986 that restored freedom to the Philippines.

The People, The Heroes Without firing a single shot, the EDSA People Power Revolution dismantled the Marcos dictatorship and became a model to people everywhere yearning to be free. Father, Mother, no less, and so.

Filipinos have made the ultimate sacrifice to win and protect the freedom
we now enjoy.

Let us continue to uphold it with brave, responsible journalism.

We are one with the nation in celebrating Philippine Independence.

Commuters urge MMDA to do something about disheveled drivers

By Mike Masada

SOMEONE had to say it. Metroplex Media Group's Audience (MMDA) said it.

Chair Francis Telesca said he would look into an appeal of a court decision that gave a group of bus drivers the right to sue the regulator on public safety grounds.

"I haven't heard a (like) rule, but I know there are regulations governing that," Telesca said. "I believe we would require a permit at Road Park in Manila where he checked out the government's permit for bus drivers' trip."

He said the plan of the National Council for Driver Protection to enforce the rule on road grooming may fall under the guidelines on uniformity set by the Land Transportation Franchising and Regulatory Board.

From what he recalled, he said, the rule requires drivers of jeepneys, vans and buses to have an either white or light blue shirt and to wear shoes not slippers when driving.

Telesca, however, wanted to be part of the drivers. "One issue is whether they have been through a bus training," he said. "Others have been opened and in their suitcases, shoes and flip-flops, and they sometimes risk and up-jump disheveled."

"I will look into their suitcases, but I think it's hard to enforce the positive because of the weather," said the MMDA chief. "I am more concerned about the driver's safety."

In 2010, then MMDA Chair Bayard Rustica issued a campaign that strictly enforced the dress code on bus drivers.

He said he would look into the issue of bus drivers' safety.

UNA ignores Koko, includes Migz in Senate lineup

By Jerry S. Bautista
ITIMUL. The United National Alliance (UNA) has decided to include in its slate for the 2013 national elections despite the strong opposition of Sen. Apolinario "Tito" P. Jr. himself.

In a news conference held at the office of the Vice President at the CLP Complex in Pasay City, UNA spokesperson Jr. Bautista formally announced the inclusion of Zabot in the coalition's senatorial lineup in next May's elections, along with Zambales Rep. Marcelino "Migz" Lopez and Calabar Gov. Armando "Mito" Garcia.

"More names will be announced later," Bautista told reporters.

UNA is the recently formed political alliance between Vice President Joselyn B. Reyes, Partido ng Demokratikong Pilipino-Laban ng Bayan (PDP-Laban) and former President Joseph Estrada's Pwersa ng Masang Pilipino (PMP).

UNA had earlier named Senator Pimentel and Cory Aquino (former Jr. de Vito, Rep. Jack Ermita and Rep. J. Sison) as senatorial line.

Bautista said that upon Koko's endorsement, "the alliance has decided to accept Migz. Zabot's inclusion is to senatorial rank."

"Pimentel is a difficult, 1-in-100 senatorial case. In certain provinces of PDP-Laban and a partner in the coalition," said Bautista.

Pimentel, who filed an electoral protest against Zabot after the latter's alleged loss of 12th place in the 2007 elections, had demanded that Zabot not be included in the UNA senatorial lineup.

Bautista had threatened to leave UNA if Zabot was in its senatorial slate.

That somebody close to Bautista told the business yesterday that Pimentel had made up his mind.

"He has left the coalition. He's joining the Liberal Party," said the source who asked not to be named for lack of authority to speak on the matter.

Down-on-her-luck mom wins P87M

By Mike Mervin

THEIR lives suddenly turned around for a 44-year-old single mother who is down-to-date after she hit Thursday's Lotto-6/49 jackpot.

The woman, who is also caring for a sick parent, won P87 million last time the Philippine Charity Sweepstakes Office (PCSO) announced winning.

In every drawing to represent PCSO general manager Jose Medina Wade II and the woman was surprised as she claimed her winnings on Monday morning. The big could not have been more perfect, Wade quoted the woman as saying.

"My lotto was in perfect timing because (my family) is going through tough times," the woman told Wade. "I am in deep debt with loan sharks."

Bautista being a single mother, the woman also cares for her sick mother. Two years ago, she started her own company's early retirement plan and used her retirement pay to start a loan and sell business.

Unfortunately, the business failed leading to bankruptcy, Wade said.

The woman told Wade she intended to give a portion of her winnings to a relative, continue to take care of her sick mother and pay off her debts. She also wants to buy a house for her family.

She said she had been playing lotto since 2005. As for the winning combination, 5-6-14-32-40-41, she said it was a Lucky Pick.

MESSAGE

Our warmest greetings and congratulations to Flying V on its 15th anniversary!

The Department of Energy joins Flying V in celebrating this momentous event to commemorate its illustrious and productive years in the business of importing, distributing, marketing, and trading of refined petroleum products. This event is a testament to the firm commitment of dynamic partnership between the government and the private sector in jointly propelling the country's growth.

We recognize the relentless efforts of Flying V in securing the country through its more than 300 retail stations and 12 import terminals, thus ensuring economic development and providing employment nationwide.

As one of our partners in the principles of the Fuel Subsidization Program and lookback, we take pride in the company's logistical support in ensuring adequate supply of the country's fuel requirements.

We sincerely wish the company's leaders, management and staff wishing it the very best on this occasion and for the coming years!

Watchdog and more power!

Jose Rene C. Alvarado
Secretary
Department of Energy

MESSAGE

It is a pleasure in congratulating Flying V and its Chairman Ramon T. Villaverde on their 15th anniversary. Mr. Villaverde's visionary leadership has certainly paid off in making other Filipino entrepreneurs to pursue their dream to be part of a national industry where only innovations drive the way.

Fortunately, the passage of the Sustainable Development Law paves the way for independent petroleum companies to enter the fuel and have commandable market share and be dynamic to our fellow Filipinos in the marketplace. Flying V's long and wide network of retail stations, regional office Filipino businesses.

Watching any Filipino entrepreneur!

Don't count on speedy passage of RH bill, warns Sotto

By Carter Harrison

PROponents of the highly diverse reproductive health bill lobbied to get rethinking their schedules if they want the measure approved by August.

Senate Minority Leader Glynn Imler (D) expressed doubts the chamber would meet their target date to pass the bill, especially since he and Senate President Joni Troen Ertelt were not fully convinced of the viability and necessity of the bill.

The House ordered the personal interpellation or debate on the IIR bill just before Congress adjourned last week.

Stearns said the senators had filed their Bill of objections after the vote on the trial.

Sen. Pat Carty, the bill's main sponsor, noted that Ehrlich had begged off from asking more questions, which led to the closing of the period of interception after Sen. Aquilino (Florida) left. He had to ask clarification from the measure, finished his interrogation.

Sen. Carty, however, did not agree.

The majority leader, whose main function is to lay down the issues to be included in sessions, said he still intended to include a "bargain" section.

This means that approving the measure then would be "impossible," he said in a text message.

Under the rules, once the period of intense pollution is over, a bill being discussed on the floor is subjected to a period of several months.

This means all proposed changes in the workings and the inclusion of new provisions would be presented on the floor and considered.

Such a "turn on water" speech would likely bring Frank Jurek, a measure.

Ombudsman, WB take on corruption

THE OFFICE of the District Attorney has a new institutional partner in its fight against youth unemployment.

The agency has signed a memorandum of understanding with the World Bank Group's (WBG) investigative arm, the Integrity Vice Presidency (INT), to work together and provide each other with crucial information to detect, substantiate and pursue individuals in government.

Under the agreement, the Office of the Coordinator and the World Bank would "engage one another on relevant activities which they separate and undertake, and which may be of common interest to the members of these institutions."

The World Bank's DIT is linked with its ongoing allegations of fraud and corruption related to its supported activities, as well as similar allegations on internal mismanagement. It is also involved in efforts to protect the World Bank's funds from misuse and corruption.

Fans believe Pacman will destroy Bradley in next fight

SUPPORTERS OF Manny Pacquiao yesterday predicted he would "destroy" Timothy Bradley Jr. if their rematch should push through.

Pacquiao says, "Bradley is not Pacquiao's match," a "one-nighting stand" with at least three years of boxing ahead of him.

"A November rematch would be the biggest boxing event for 2012. With most fans, he should destroy Bradley the way Pacquiao demolished (late) Mosley in their second encounter," Golos said.

Manila Bay. Atsushi Inagaki said Pacquiao, 31, will beat two years left of fighting before thinking of retirement.

He said Pacquiao's emotional religious belief should not be blamed for his loss. "He hasn't lost his edge. A religious has no effect on fighting."

Vice President Joseph Binay expressed confidence the assured legions would win the planned rematch in November.

"I know Congressman Binay Bradley would be knocked out at their next fight," Binay said emphatically.

"Someone might say this happens," Binay said in 14 spots. "But in the heart of every Filipino, Congressman Binay, you were the real winner."

Binay added: "Manny has shown he has the heart of a champion."

Pacquiao again said in a text message: "I believe that Manny Pacquiao has been given an opportunity to reach even greater heights."

Presidential spokesperson Edwin Lucena said the boxer's message was a "positive encouragement" to Pacquiao.

gave any particular instruction and how they came to the conclusion," Aron said from his hotel in Manila.

Aron's office says he has no memory of the incident. He said he was not involved in the demand of a commercial training camp and the media for a full-page photo, possibly even a federal investigation.

"There needs to be an independent investigation because it is a matter of public interest," he said. "We are not going to let anybody say that we are a bad person."

Judge Jerry Bush said the fight, 115-113, for Pacquiao, but it was overturned by a similar 115-112 margin for Bradley given by two judges, C.J. Ross and Brian Ford.

Three more reports, according to Mary Latorre of Sports Illustrated, said Bradley lost only early Saturday morning, putting back the odds to 4-1 in Pacquiao's favor.

For both boxers, the fight was a disaster. Pacquiao was hit by two punches in the first round, one in the chest and one in the head.

Carpio's vow: No Aquino Supreme Court

By Marlon Barua

MANILA (Rappler) Supreme Court?

During Chief Justice Renato Corona's press conference to announce his resignation to President Aquino, he said he would not be a candidate for the Supreme Court.

Corpio, Corona's closest ally in the high court and one of the most vocal critics of the President, said that the 15-member tribunal would remain independent of the President's will.

Corpio's vow to remain independent of the President's will is a clear statement of his intent to remain on the bench of the Supreme Court.

Soldiers of peace: Son picks up where father left off

THE GENERAL who is moving the armed forces away from the long-held belief in a purely military solution to the insurgency problem in the new Duterte has strategy that calls for "winning the peace rather than just debating the enemy" knows fully well the danger of making peace.

"That's never an easy proposition," said Maj. Gen. Emmanuel Duterte, pointing to a special issue of a military magazine dated October 1997 that he keeps in his office at Camp Aguinaldo.

Intramuros exec wants informal settlers out

By Philip C. Salas

THE INTRAMUROS Administration will relocate most of the informal settlers living within the "walled city" of Manila as part of its effort to restore the historic district after an 18-year-old reconstruction project described the area as "irreparable and distinctive."

Intramuros Administrative Vice Chairman A. Rodriguez said that by removing the informal settlers from the area, the city government can restore the historic district to its original state.

"We're not thinking of taking them out all at once, but we're thinking of taking them out in a phased manner," Rodriguez said.

He said that the city government is planning to build a new area for the informal settlers outside the walled city.

He said that the city government is planning to build a new area for the informal settlers outside the walled city.

at the press conference, said that all was not lost for Intramuros.

"The terms endangered is often used in the United States as a call to action. It doesn't mean that it is a hopeless case. On the contrary, it means there is a potential to save and restore whatever is endangered," Rodriguez said.

"The opportunity there is to restore the area so that the people will benefit from it. In the case of Intramuros, the restoration could be quite large, from the wall to the informal settlers," Rodriguez said.

"This is the first step in getting the economy involved in historic heritage and tourism projects," Rodriguez said.

Allies curb air strikes against Taliban in homes

Move follows death of 18 Afghan civilians in drone attack

WASHINGTON—The senior allied commander in Afghanistan has ordered new restrictions on air strikes against Taliban fighters who hide in residential homes, coalition officials said on Sunday, a move in response to a NATO attack in the eastern part of the country last week that Afghan officials say killed 18 civilians.

"I have our commitment to protect Afghan civilians, including the use of air-delivered munitions against insurgents within civilian dwellings as a prudent and logical step in the progression in the campaign," Andre Claybrook, a NATO spokesman, said in an e-mail on Sunday.

Claybrook said the decision from Gen. John R. Allen, the commander for international and US forces in Afghanistan, encompasses NATO's ongoing commitment to protecting civilians. It also makes a change for President Barack Obama, who has repeatedly asked that civilian casualties be minimized.

When there is concern over the presence of civilians, air-delivered munitions will not be employed until where there are civilians, "and a senior US defense official who was not authorized to speak publicly on the policy deliberations.

Taliban often hide in residential homes, a complete ban on air strikes could hinder the ability of US forces to pursue the Taliban. Allen's order does not affect ground operations against insurgents. An agreement between the two sides in April gave local authority for night raids in the Afghan, although situations are to be controlled jointly and targets selected by consensus. Allen's order will mean more air strikes in the future, and Afghan officials say they were not involved in the decision to carry out the last one on Sunday last week.

The strike sparked a backlash in an increasingly restive Afghanistan.

Insurgents in Afghanistan dropped significantly in the first four months of 2010, and a similar proportion of the deaths was attributed to coalition and Afghan forces compared with a year earlier, the US defense in the country said last week.

The Joint Afghanistan road last week was leaving a Taliban commander and most of his fighters who had moved up in a house in Logar province, where a wedding had taken place, so resulting in local residents. An early-morning firefight broke out between the coalition troops and the insurgents, and the coalition troops killed the wedding host, taking place, so resulting in local residents. On Friday, Allen apologized for the civilian deaths and said the mission was to protect the civilians from the Taliban. The mission was to protect the civilians from the Taliban. The mission was to protect the civilians from the Taliban. The mission was to protect the civilians from the Taliban.

'Vatileaks' could weaken chances of an Italian pope

By Jean-Louis de la Motte

ROME—Rumors in the Vatican could weaken the chances of the next pope being an Italian, observers said, as rumors leaked from the Holy See's circles of power that the 82-year-old cardinal could be the next pope.

While rumors are being spread within the Vatican administration, the "Vatileaks" scandal has also drawn Pope Benedict XVI's concern with the day-to-day running of the Church despite the 65-year-old physical frailty.

There has been support for rumors that a possible successor, however.

A quarter of the cardinals can cast a vote in the conclave and the general view before the conclave is that they would help elect one of their own, according to a spokesman for the Italian press.

The last non-Italian pope was John Paul II, who died in 2002.

But that logic is looking increasingly questionable as the conclave is called in the next few days. The Roman Curia is dominated by Italians, more concerned with their own interests than the greater good of the world's Catholics.

"The role of the Vatican is that it has seriously damaged the prospects for an Italian cardinal to be elected," says a spokesman for the press.

The Catholic Church has never had a good image. Clergy in other parts of the world are at the center of power but create problems instead of helping. They are the continuation of this, he said.

The Vatican cardinals are "too single men," he said, writing that no one could manage them but instead in a "managing" position.

There is a rising sense of the hierarchy more toward Italian cardinals, the 70-year-old Archbishop of Milan Cardinal Angelo Scola, has been writing.

Scola who has stated plans for his expansion and international initiatives but does not see highly for his personal qualities. "We have different interests," he says, because of other Italian cardinals, Scola said.

The report claimed as its purpose, however, to distance himself from the Italian world. "Communication and Liberation" which he helped promote but which is now being criticized for its role in Italian politics.

While paid elections tend to favor "Scola" such as Benedict himself, who heads up the Vatican's Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith for 24 years, there is now increased interest in possible "Scola" candidates.

One name frequently cited is Cardinal Carlo Maria Martini, who is being called in by Italian politics.

Hollande party likely to win parliament majority

PARIS—French President Nicolas Sarkozy is in a race to win a third parliamentary majority after a first-round election that leaves him strong, leading him to a flurry of talks with other party leaders that could make it break the two-party system.

Sarkozy's new left-wing Socialist Party may likely to win the 2010 election, but he will need to rely on other parties to get his agenda passed.

The new parliament will meet in the 27th National Assembly, and Sarkozy wants to do so as soon as possible. He has been, polling just below 50%.

At 63, Pinky Puno makes the dance floor her comfort zone

By Margie C. Enriquez
Contributor

POSSESS and elegant, well-known dance performer Michelle "Pinky" Puno knows with flying colors: Knowing how, you don't know at all that there's but slender fingers, a key performance and period lamp.

"I still have this great feeling that there's still more to come from me," said Pinky like 63, you still have a girl's who when she dances.

Since 2011, she has been invited to dance. On July 28, she will open a ballroom dance school named Amor Gorda Ballroom Dance Center in Greater Pooking, D.C.

Her dance has passion for dance by joining competitions in the under-18 years (over 30 years old), from July onwards, her competition number is full.

When she starts the Philippines, she hopes to contribute to the growth of the local dance scene.

Single-minded

Pinky has always been single-minded about her dance. In her career, she performed with the Electric Blue Company, appearing with Marjorie Barredo, who became a great friend and mentor.

Pinky was in her senior year in high school when she started her dance career. During the era of her school, she was in the Electric Blue Company and she was the "centerpiece" of the group.

Pinky's career, she started as a dancer. In the 1980s, she was in the Electric Blue Company and she was the "centerpiece" of the group.

She began her career in New Manila, Quezon City. Pinky was only 18, a college sophomore, when she started.

She began her career in 1988. The group had just graduated from school, with a Political Science major.

"I could see my future in college studies. I was pregnant and waiting my time to have a baby."

Although the marriage has never been, Pinky had more than 40 children.

Message C2

There are a lot of practitioners, and also master of Tibet, there are also many concepts in that practicing the in earth.

In that practice of producing one's own body to dry up a wet blanket a sort of loss in needs, so it is like a milk glass prism?

It has many religious purposes in it, yes, but mainly, it is to develop one's ability to control one's body, because maintaining one's body is very important, not only for one's own well-being but for the benefit of others as well. Because the human body is very precious, so each person is duty to somehow keep one's body in good condition. And also, to transform one's body into something that is beneficial for us, so there is an advantage, because if the body is not well, instead of helping the world, it disturbs the world, so it is a good practice.

For those interested in personal development, individual part 10 is highly recommended, and other part 10 is highly recommended. Call 02-8307241, 02-8307242 for details.

One's body, Karma and Karma and Karma seminar will be held on 10-11 p.m., at the 3rd Floor Plaza 1, Legaspi 10, Greenfield, Manila.

Health Talk with Dr. Arnel and Romeo Nuguid

Dr. Arnel and Romeo Nuguid will answer all your health questions every Tuesday of the month.

Two of the country's top physicians, doctors Arnel and Romeo Nuguid are doctors in Asian Hospital, Makati Medical Center and St. Luke's Global City, Fort Bonifacio.

For this week, they will answer frequently asked questions on how fiber works in our body and its benefits.

FIBER: HOW DOES IT WORK?

Q: How does fiber work in different parts of the body?

A: Dietary fiber works in different ways to help improve our digestive system to help us feel light and healthy every day.

When dietary fiber reaches our stomach, it immediately makes the contents soak by absorbing down the food through chewing, making that content is digested. Aside from that, fiber also helps clean teeth.

Soluble fiber protects the process of digestion and keeps the stomach full for longer period of time. Insoluble fiber draws water to the intestine. It increases bulk and softens the stool.

When fiber reaches the large intestine, it is broken down by bacteria in a process called fermentation, producing organic acids and gases. The organic acids nourish the lining of the colon. The gases produced during fermentation soften and enlarge the stools, thus preventing trauma and reducing the stress of defecation as the stools pass through the rectum and anus.

Fiber light everyday with a bottle of Fiber & Fruit-Aid Fiber & Fruit-Aid is 100% natural, ready-to-drink beverage that helps you feel light. It offers a refreshing dose of soluble fiber that cleanses your body, giving you that amazing feeling of lightness after your next bowel.

Fiber & Fruit-Aid comes in 250 ml (8.45 fl. oz.) and 500 ml (16.9 fl. oz.) bottles and gives you more energy, focus, and energy.

Each 250 ml (8.45 fl. oz.) bottle is the equivalent of a fiber of the amount that experts recommend to be taken daily.

One can enjoy even a 'jukebox musical'

By Philebe Concepcion

BAD REMINDERS of a show won't matter, especially if that show has proven itself to be a hit among audiences. That's what 1984 pointed out when he and other cast members of the Philippine production of the American stage musical "Rock of Ages" met the media recently. "It's not gonna be the thing everyone on high school's stuff. It's about people having a good time. It's just a show full of great songs and Whitey's songs," Mark said of the show, adding that it's even in "the fact that it's timeless."

The "Music here" (written and produced by Martin) has been in the Philippines for the last 10 years, and it's still going strong. The show is a tribute to the music of the 1960s and 1970s, and it's still going strong. The show is a tribute to the music of the 1960s and 1970s, and it's still going strong. # Kalayaan 2012

Celebrating 114 Years of Philippine Independence

Unfurling the Kalayaan spirit in canvas

Individually and collectively, Filipino visual artists express their beliefs and vision.

Closely to a hundred Filipino visual artists, both budding and established, are participating in an exhibition of works revolving on the theme "Kalayaan." Organized under the auspices of Asia Out-Door Summer Project, the exhibition opens on its fourth year.

This group show will run the year

Ben Cebu's "Kalayaan ng Kapighitan"

Artworks of national artist Benigno Cabrera, Manuel Antonio, R.A. Tijing, Renee Cabaja, Marlene Comanog, Glavin Barlogan, Michael Garcia, Joel Alarcon, Ben Capiz, Xian Zola, Sharon M. Jaramin, Xavier, and Alex Garcia among others.

For the first time, the local artists will be joined by two Canadian artists, Theo No. 1 and

Solignum

Helping preserve our homes, our history, our heritage.

Solignum is the first country choice for the National Historical Commission for the restoration of Philippine historical sites and landmarks.

Wouldn't Solignum be your first and only choice for your home, too?

Why choose Solignum? It's the choice of the National Historical Commission for the restoration of Philippine historical sites and landmarks.

SOLIGNUM PRESERVES AGUINALDO SHINE FROM THE PAST

Solignum is the first country choice for the National Historical Commission for the restoration of Philippine historical sites and landmarks. The company's products are used to restore the Aguinaldo Shrine in Fuzhuan, China, which is a National Historical Landmark. The shrine is a traditional Chinese building that has been restored to its original glory. Solignum's products are used to restore the building's exterior and interior, including the roof, walls, and floors. The company's products are also used to restore the building's furniture and fixtures. The restoration project is a major undertaking that will take several years to complete. Solignum is proud to be a part of this project and to help preserve the Aguinaldo Shrine for future generations.

Serving Lugaw Like A Queen

How the owners of Lugaw Queen keep up with their sales

Perhaps it's what Filipinos call talking lugaw but it is also undeniable that Sherwin and Beverly Aquino's wit, charm and good business sense earned them the success they are enjoying now. Former office employees, the couple struck gold when a small eatery space was offered to them and they grabbed it. So starting with a humble capital of P1,000, Sherwin and Beverly started Lugaw Queen in a 4 square meter take out counter in San Pablo, Laguna. That was in November of 2007. After only 3 months, they were able to open a second branch. Today their joint has grown into a chain of 17 outlets. With clean, comfortable dining areas that boast of a menu that includes lugaw as cheap as P15. It's no wonder their restaurant chain still continues to grow. In fact, they have now opened their company to franchisees.

But along with swift growth come certain challenges. For instance, managing a multi-branched food service company meant having to keep track of a thick inventory. Especially since all transactions must be accounted for and given them a push with how they are doing. "Gathering loyalty is often to monitor what is the best selling product, and in what time of the day," they say.

Quickly they have found the solution. The secret to Lugaw Queen's smooth operations is their web-based Point-Of-Sale system, PLDT CheckDot. One of the key advantages, PLDT CheckDot is a solution that supports automated sales and inventory in real time. What's more is that such subscription comes with features to make operations flow even smoother. "Reports for the month are generated easily through CheckDot, easily monitoring of all changes in prices. Promos are easily launched to all branches/ the happy couple stress. And also, the security of the data - it's much preferred than hiring people in all the branches dedicated to just do this. In the same time, customer pay using items problems such as wrong prices and human errors kept nagagapan ng panalo right away." Totally happy with the service, they are even making PLDT CheckDot a part of their franchising package.

Let freedom ring in classic luxury—where else but in

STA.LUCIA Residence

The Philippines celebrates 118 years of freedom today—more than a century of struggle, dreams and hopes for a bright, happy future. Today, we reflect on how precious that freedom is, and set goals for making good use of that freedom.

Three dreams, hopes and goals take on new meaning at The Monte Carlo, the first tower in The Residence development by Sta. Lucia Land. It is strategically located at the juncture of the progressive cities of Marikina, Pasig and Antipolis, and the municipality of Cainta.

The Monte Carlo is one of five levels The Residence, a residential, commercial and business complex which will also house the soon-to-be-launched Sta. Lucia Center. It will be ready for occupancy by 2014, while its built-in, two-level mall will be ready by 2015.

The Monte Carlo is a place that relaxes, refreshes and invigorates, in a setting inspired by the coastal beauty of Mediterranean cities. Its design is inspired by the spontaneous city state and bourgeoisie capital along the French Riviera.

The Monte Carlo offers a haven away from urban stresses, yet close to the convenience of modern living—the perfect place to rest, live and work. In a world-class, master-planned condominium development.

Would-be unit owners at The Monte Carlo have the chance to live in classic luxury at very affordable prices. They may avail of the very light payment terms that allow up to 36 months to pay for the down payment. Balance may be paid through bank financing.

Luxury Amenities

A unit at The Monte Carlo gives access to all the luxury amenities of the Sta. Lucia Residence: the landscaped gardens as well as the open spaces.

A fitness gym, bowling lanes and a covered basketball court. They all also have built-in access to the Sta. Lucia Mall's shopping, retail and recreation areas, including the cinema.

The Monte Carlo has 21 storeys offering 280 units composed of studio, one-bedroom and two-bedroom units. The limited number of units on each floor prevents crowding.

Units at the 17th to 21st floors of The Monte Carlo are open and two-bedroom units that open to a panoramic view of the Antipolis and San Mateo hills rising on the east and the Marikina and Pasig valleys in opposite sides. Studio units are located at the 3rd to 16th floors. Studio units at the 3rd floor recreation area have their own gardens that face the common landscaped garden grounds. Studio units can even be further customized to give its residents freedom of space.

All units at The Monte Carlo come fully finished with complete kitchen and bathroom. Monte Carlo residents will be provided 24-hour security with security guards, CCTV cameras and smoke detectors. For business and recreation, there will be Wi-Fi connectivity and a function hall.

With Sta. Lucia Mall located within the same complex, residents are assured that they can find all their necessities within the property complex itself—whether for shopping, dining or recreation. Everything they need is already within close reach.

The Monte Carlo is also conveniently close to hospitals and clinics, centers of recreation and entertainment, as well as to churches, universities and colleges.

The Monte Carlo and the Residence are owned and developed by Sta. Lucia Realty and Development, Inc., one of the pioneering and most-trusted developers in the Philippines. Architectural design is by M.V. Coscolluela and Associates while interior design is by Sangseng & Perpetua.
